

Conditions for use of geographical data of Geodesic Authority

1. The assignee uses the digital product for his/her own requirements to the extent of 5 installations. Own requirements are understood in the case of natural persons to mean the personal requirements of the assignee and persons close thereto (in the sense of Act no. 40/1964 Coll.), in the case of legal entities this is understood to mean internal requirements within the framework of the legal entity.
2. The assignee obliges the participating users not to use data for the purpose of commercial distribution of their applications or for the creation of a cartographic work with the purpose of commercial distribution of duplicates thereof. Should the assignee fail to do so and should the data be abused, the assignee shall be legally responsible.
3. Should the assignee delegate processing of the acquired data to another subject, he/she shall then be obligated to engage the processor in the protection of the data. This means that the processor shall not use data thus acquired for its own commercial needs and shall not communicate this data to other persons.
4. The assignee is not authorised to transfer authorisation for any use of the acquired data to any third party.
5. The assignee shall prevent the use of geographical data by other persons in the case that the conditions of the contract do not permit this use.
6. Unauthorised use or distribution of map ordnances is a violation of order in the section of land surveying according to Act no. 200/1994 Coll., on land surveying, as amended by the later provisions, violation of Act no. 121/2000 Coll., on copyright, and on rights in connection with copyright, and on the amendment to certain laws (copyright law), and may be judged according to criminal law and other generally binding legal prescriptions.
7. The price of data corresponds to their application as stipulated in the "Conditions of use of geographical data of the Geodesic Authority". If the assignee wishes to make use of the acquired data beyond the framework of these limitations, e.g. for more than 5 installations or for commercial purposes, it shall then be necessary to request further permission, for which a fee shall be charged, from the following contacts:
